Excellence in Remote Jury Research – Part I

Presented By Chris Dominic, President & Senior Consultant, and Laura Dominic, Senior Consultant at Tsongas Litigation Consulting, Inc.

The pandemic has changed the way the litigation process works. Hearings, depositions, and even trials are now being held remotely. Pre-trial jury research has followed suit. Even as restrictions are relaxed, many predict remote litigation will be around for a while. This presentation will focus on the best practices for conducting jury research remotely.

Chris Dominic and Laura Dominic from Tsongas Litigation Consulting, Inc. will share the latest in remote jury research by putting on a demonstration remote mock trial. Two OADC members will present the opposing sides of an employment discrimination case to panel of randomly selected mock jurors. Conference attendees will watch the real time survey results post to an online data dashboard followed by a remote deliberation. Tips for maximizing your speaker credibility in a remote setting will be shared. This program is sure to be informative and entertaining.

Find Out How You Win or Lose Before Trial

Presented by Jeff Goodman, Founding Partner, Goodman Law, DesMoines, Iowa

Jeff Goodman is a trial attorney with 35 years of trial experience who has previously hired nationally renowned trial consultants to assist him as a trial lawyer. From his interactions with jury consultants, Jeff concluded that there was a better, more cost-effective way to deliver these services to lawyers and so he formed Harbinger® Jury Consultants. Jeff will address some of the commonly asked questions about jury consulting services including: Why should a jury consultant be part of your trial team? How much do jury consulting services cost? What types of cases is a jury consultant appropriate for? What are the services that a jury consultant offers to the trial lawyer? At what point in the progression of your case should you engage a jury consultant? What tangible results can be expected from a jury consultant?

You will also learn some valuable takeaways derived from the Harbinger® jury consultant about real lawyers and their cases, and the jurors that decide them. Finally, you will be challenged to answer these questions: Are there some cases you have lost that you should have won? Are there some cases you won that you should have lost? The answer to these two questions is undoubtedly: “Yes indeed” which leads one to wonder why, for most lawyers, are these questions typically a nostalgic, reflective activity that occurs after the conclusion of the trial. Is it because hindsight is 20/20 or is it because the necessary and appropriate steps were not taken to unearth what could have been discovered long before the trial started by engaging a jury consultant?
